

Program Outcome

B.A (Hons.) in Philosophy

This program helps young minds to get initiated into the world of philosophical discourses by cultivating two questions, 'why' and 'how'. The art of questioning prepares the students for further higher studies and research. The courses like Psychology in this program can be beneficial for the students who will be interested in pursuing their studies in Cognitive Science which is an emerging field of research in recent era.

The courses like Western philosophy and Logic helps to sustain logical and critical ability among the students. These branches also help the students to be acquainted with the great philosophical minds and their thoughts. This necessary introduction helps create sensitivity among the students about life and existence as well as their immediate surroundings.

Logical Reasoning also takes an important part in various competitive examinations. Logical aptitudes or ability inspires our students as a whole for preparing themselves for different jobs in the public or private sector or in studying Law in future. This logical reasoning is also essential for competitive bureaucratic jobs like I.A.S, W.B.E.S and various professions in academic institutions like school, college, university.

Philosophy of language develops a skillful mind for analysis of language and their different nuances along with a rigorous analytical method to approach this worldly life with a more reflective outlook.

Ethics provides the knowledge of understanding human conduct with a few questions like how far and why ethical norms prescribed by the society are to be accepted. The course on moral philosophy has largely tried to give an impression to the students why we need to be moral. This is a very pertinent question for today's generation to face challenges in the midst of the chaos of the external world.

Ancient Indian Philosophical schools inculcate morals and traditional value systems amongst the students along with their own sets of philosophical arguments so that the students can become aware of our rich cultural tradition and value system. This program is designed in such a manner that after completion this program a student will be able to enunciate a few relevant questions about our surrounding life, world and our so called real-existence. Reading philosophy is not only to acquire some skilled logical aptitude and critical thinking for material success but also to have an analytical and sensible mind to understand life and its constraints we have to operate within.
